Hospice celebrates 20 years of service Council says yes to land

Prayer vigil kicks off anniversary observance

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

When Hospice of Madison County originated 20 years ago, it was the first organization of its kind in Metro East and one of three in the entire St. Louis area.

Since then, Hospice, now a part of the St. Elizabeth Medical Center's Home Care Services department, has helped an estimated 2,500 patients, their families and friends deal with terminal illness.

It will celebrate its 20th anniversary on Friday with a prayer vigil from 7:15 to 8 a.m. Saturday.

"We thought it appropriate to start our celebration this way," volunteer coordinator Nancy Kaprelian said. "We felt that a lot of what we do has a spiritual quality to it."

"We wanted some seriousness to it, not just a happy time, although we will be having some other celebration things."

During the vigil, staff members and volunteers will be taking turns reading prayers in the SEMC chapel for all the patients they have served over the past two decades.

Kaprelian added that they will be having an open house from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Nov. 1 in the Sister Mary Thomas Room of the hospital.

"I'm going to have all of Home Care Services in there, but Hospice of Madison County will be the focal point," Kaprelian said.

A tea party for volunteers and staff is also planned for December and a public reception is also planned from 2 to 4 p.m. Oct. 24 in the Wiesman Room at SEMC.

The hospice started as an independent organization in 1979, then became part of SEMC in 1986.

The hospice was the first in the Metro East, in the entire St. Louis region, said Patient Care coordinator Lois Hindman.

Both Hindman and Kaprelian said the fact that it has operated for 20 years is a major accomplishment.

"It's important because we help people spend the last part of their life how they want to," Hindman said.

From left, Hospice of Madison County social worker Eileen Humphrey, RN/CMH Mary Ann Fortae and RN Ida Nuernburger draw up plans for Saturday's 20th anniversary prayer vigil at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She said the hospice allows people to come home and be in familiar surroundings during a very difficult time.

"When there is no longer a cure, there is a lot of care we can provide," she said.

"I think we serve a need," Kaprelian said. "It's very difficult dealing with death and dying, it's not something people really like to do. When they are confronted with a prognosis of terminal illness, you just need help, you need assistance getting through this time. We have provided this assistance."

"What we're trying to do is get people to understand that hospice is not about dying," Kaprelian said. "People with terminal illnesses have to decide how to live what is left of their lives."

"A lot of people have chosen Hospice to give them that support because they have made

A storm of ill will had been brewing the past month over the proposed forced annexation of land east of Maryville Road.

It struck Tuesday evening at the Granite City Council meeting when aldermen voted in favor of the annexation by a 9-4 margin.

The decision angered people in the newly annexed areas.

Before the controversial vote, aldermen suspended the rules and placed the proposal on the agenda for final passage.

Aldermen who voted against it were Casmer Skubish, Kim MacTaggart, Bob Cook and Jim Miller.

Friday night brawl leads to felony charges against four

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Four people were charged with felonies Monday morning following a brawl Friday night in

VENICE

Shenkia N. Wagoner, 29, and Brenda L. Mason, 38, both of the 1200 block of Oriole, and Joey M. Hyster, 22, and Willie R. Hyster, 25, both of the 1600 block of Third Street in Madison, were all charged

Long-standing family feud erupts into violence; no injuries reported in fight with one count each of mob action, a Class 4 felony.

Bond for those arrested in the all-in brawl was set at $30,000 each.

In addition to the felony charges filed against the four, Wagoner was charged with one count each of aggravated battery, mob action, disorderly conduct, resisting an officer and obstructing justice.

She also had an outstanding warrant for failure to appear on charges of disorderly conduct out of the city of Madison.

Mason was charged with one count each of mob action, resisting arrest, aggravated assault, battery and disobeying a police officer. She also had four outstanding warrants.

Willie Hyster was also charged with disobeying a police officer.

A fifth suspect, a minor, was taken to the Madison County Juvenile Detention Center in Edwardsville.

The alleged incident occurred at about 9:55 p.m. Friday in the 1200 block of Oriole. According to police reports, police responded to a report of a "big fight" at that location.

When officers arrived, they reportedly observed Wagoner allegedly chase another person into a house and allegedly observed him throwing an object, which was later identified as a table leg, at the victim. They also observed Mason allegedly holding a baseball bat.

Venice police officers who were attempting to arrest Wagoner for his role in the brawl were assaulted by up to a dozen family members.

During the melee, one officer lost his flashlight, extra ammunition and someone apparently attempted to take his gun.

However, the officer was able to battle his way out of the crowd and called for backup from other police officers.

During the melee, Joey Hyster, who is pregnant, allegedly attempted to stop officers from arresting Wagoner and Mason.

Police asked her husband, Willie, to restrain her, but he allegedly also tried to stop officers from making arrests.

Police said the fight was apparently the result of a long-standing feud between two families in the area.

Plans in works to celebrate trek

Lewis and Clark Society plans bicentennial observance

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Almost 200 years ago, the Corps of Discovery started its trek across the uncharted wilderness of the new world.

In 1804, Capts. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark led the expedition up the Missouri River, eventually working their way to the Pacific Ocean and paving the way for the westward expansion of the United States.

Today, members of the Lewis and Clark Society of America are gearing up to celebrate what they consider one of the most important events in American history and local members are hoping that Camp Dubois, where the group trained and stayed during the winter of 1803-04, will play a major role in that celebration.

Shifts in both the Missouri and Mississippi rivers have left the actual site of the camp in question, but the Lewis and Clark Historic Site, located in Hartford, is expected to play a major role in the celebration.

A $7 million interpretive center is planned for the site and is expected to be completed in time for the bicentennial celebration in 2003.

The center will be located just off Illinois Route 3 at the site. Construction is expected to begin next year and will be completed in time for the center to play a vital role in the anniversary, according to state officials.

In the meantime, the society is celebrating three major events in the expedition's history.

On Sept. 23, 1806, the Corps of Discovery returned to the Illinois after reaching the Pacific. A program for elementary students was held last week at the site.

In December, the group will celebrate the pitching of Camp Dubois in 1803, but final plans have not been made. And on May 14, 1804, plans are also in the works to celebrate the party starting the expedition at the Missouri River.

"We wanted to commemorate Lewis and Clark, and we're doing that on three different dates in history," said Brian Widaman, spokesman for the local society chapter.

Widaman said they want each to be an annual event, leading up to the 200th anniversary of the formal start of the expedition in 2004.

Presumption of guilt is part of war on drugs

Author says effort undermines civil-military separation

By F.R. Duplantier

"One of the most alarming side effects of the federal government's war on drugs is the militarization of the law enforcement in America," charges writer Diane Weber in a report published by the Cato Institute.

Weber contends that "the American tradition of civil-military separation is breaking down as Congress assigns more and more law enforcement responsibilities to the armed forces."

She also claims that "state and local police officers are increasingly emulating the war-fighting tactics of soldiers."

Weber warns "the lines that have traditionally separated the military mission from the police mission are getting badly blurred."

Over the last 20 years, she notes, "Congress has encouraged the U.S. military to supply intelligence, equipment, and training to civilian police. That encouragement has spawned a culture of paramilitarism in American police departments."

By virtue of their training and specialized armament, state and local police officers are adopting the tactics and mindset of their military mentors."

Weber stresses that "the actions and values of the police officer are distinctly different from those of the warrior."

"The job of a police officer," she explains, "is to keep peace, not but by just any means. Police officers are expected to apprehend suspected lawbreakers while adhering to constitutional procedures."

The soldier, on the other hand, is an instrument of war," Weber emphasizes. "In boot camp, recruits are trained to inflict maximum damage on enemy personnel. Confusing the police function with the military function," she concludes, "can have dangerous consequences."

Weber is especially concerned about the proliferation of SWAT teams.

She notes that such units are "created to deal with emergency situations that are beyond the capacity of the ordinary street cop. But

Weber warns, "as time passes, inactive SWAT units tend to jettison their original, limited mission for more routine policing activities. Local jurisdictions should carefully assess the need for SWAT units," she advises, "and guard against the danger of mission creep."

Recognizing that "federal policies have contributed to the culture of paramilitarism that currently pervades many local police departments," Weber urges Congress to restore "the traditional American principle of civil-military separation embodied in the Posse Comitatus Act."

Of course, we now know that the most brazen violation of this principle of civil-military separation occurred in Waco in 1993, when members of the U.S. Army's Delta Force participated in the Branch Davidian siege and helped burn 86 American citizens to death.

No presumption of innocence, no chance to confront their accusers, no trial by jury; just a mass execution by incineration.

It may not have been justice, but it was swift. That may seem "kinda cool" to the power-mad pinheads in the White House (who relish their leader's abuse of executive orders to circumvent the legislative process), but to normal, peace-loving, law-abiding Americans, it's "kinda scary."

Bill Clinton has empowered the U.S. military to wage war on his own countrymen, and thanks to him 86 presumably innocent Americans are "kinda dead."

You're unsafe!

Truth often not as great as hype

By Aaron Chambers

A hard shell.

Three little black eyes.

Wrapped in tissue paper and addressed to me.

Who would have thought a coconut would cause such a stir? It arrived on a Tuesday via United Parcel Service. It was tucked in a small, white box and resembled an unwrapped gift.

With big, bold letters spelling my name and address, there was no question about it: It was meant for me.

Only I hadn't ordered any package. And, as reporters routinely receive strange mail, I was a little suspicious. I thought of letters from death row inmates complaining of vast conspiracies that put them away and of lousy attorneys they had at trial.

I thought of whacked-out press releases left at my door: "The governor is a crook!" and "Kill the General Assembly!" I shook the box and its contents barely moved. There was no return address.

Only one thing left to do. I opened it and found a single coconut inside. No note. Just a single coconut wrapped in three sheets of tissue paper. It was a typical, off-the-shelf coconut in all respects but one: Half of it was shaved!

That was about as much as I could handle.

I saw voodoo rituals in the dark and bad karma arriving by overnight express. I asked veteran reporters if they'd heard any stories about crazies who shipped coconuts to their victims.

One veteran, who put some thought into it, returned some 20 minutes later.

I remember a story about two retired police officers who used to mail a coconut back and forth to each other," he said.

"Back and forth. The same coconut."

But I hadn't sent anyone a coconut.

The press corps is an inquisitive bunch and soon, members were stopping by for a peek.

The coconut scenarios grew more absurd as the hoopla continued for a couple more hours. But at long last, my reporter's sense kicked in, and I had UPS trace the box's tracking number (it was in small print and discovered later).

The truth is a friend had gone grocery shopping with me a couple of months before the paranoid episode and thought it was cute that I bought a coconut while shopping.

She bought the coconut and was going to print my address right on its face, so she shaved off half of its hair.

But she left town, forgot to mail it and left it—with my address—at work. A colleague of hers found it, and trying to do her a favor, sent it on its way.

The truth, as is often the case with a good story, is not half as great as the hype.

Letter to the editor

TO THE EDITOR:

As a pediatric nurse for 14 years, I have seen the benefits of early intervention. We now have the technology to detect problems earlier and start appropriate interventions and treatments. One child that I have worked with for five years is an example of the rewards of early intervention. Katherine was born three months early and had many medical problems. I met the family from a referral by Cardinal Glennon Children's Hospital through the adverse pregnancy outcome reporting system by Illinois after a three-month stay.

Referrals were made for physical, occupational and speech therapy. Slow strides were made to teach her how to roll, sit, stand and finally walk with the work of the family, therapist and all involved. By two years of age she was off any medical assistance and acting very much like a toddler.

My last visit with the family was after her fifth birthday and she was ready for pre-kindergarten and none of the early problems could be seen. It was hard to believe that five very short years had passed and such great strides had been made. This family and many more do what has to be done for their children every day to improve the quality of life. It is very rewarding to see with education, support, encouragement and human caring a child can grow to their full potential no matter what that may be.

VOICE BOX

The United States is talking to several countries, requesting the release of our POWs and MIAs still missing after the Korean War. What do you think of the request?

"There should be no second guesses about their release. These people have suffered long enough along with their families waiting for them to get home."

Ken Rodgers, 47
Ford Motor Co.

"It is never to late; they should have done this a long time ago. I'm happy for their families."

Keith Support, 40

"If the request is granted and they are returned home, I think that will be an historical event. The families can finally be satisfied in their hearts about the remains of their loved ones."

Michelle Valencia

"It is about time we got our people back. The United States didn't keep any prisoners. Their families can finally have closure."

Vivki Champion, 44

"It will surprise me if they do release them. I sure hope and pray that they do, for the families' sake. It is great that they are even thinking about releasing them. I think we will all be happy."

BATTERY: A man was battered in the 1800 block of State Street Saturday afternoon while at his residence. Police are seeking battery charges against a 26-year-old Granite City man.

According to a police report, the victim, 54, was leaving his home about 9:30 p.m. when the suspect punched him in the face repeatedly. The victim was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where he was treated for facial injuries. The incident is under investigation.

A woman was battered Monday afternoon at Wilson Park. Police are seeking battery and criminal damage to property charges against a 50-year-old Granite City woman. According to a police report, the victim, 30, was grabbed by the neck and punched in the face several times about 2:45 p.m. During the incident, the victim's glasses were broken. The incident is under investigation.

HATE CRIME: Police are investigating a hate crime that occurred Friday evening at Taco Bell on Madison Avenue. Police are seeking hate-crime charges against a 20-year-old Granite City man and a 21-year-old Pontoon Beach man.

According to a police report, the two men made racial slurs at the victim, a 37-year-old black man. One of the suspects allegedly spat in the victim's face and threw a beer bottle at him, which smashed at his feet. A police report said the victim punched one of the suspects in the face in self-defense. The incident occurred about 9:30 p.m. Police are investigating.

BURGLARY: A burglary occurred Monday evening at a mobile home in the 2300 block of Edna. According to a police report, a VCR, purse, television and remote were stolen. The purse contained $25 in cash. The other items were valued at about $750. The report did not state how entry was gained. The burglary is under investigation.

County coroner's jury rules - Horvath's death accidental

No charges expected against truck driver in incident

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff writer

A coroner's jury last week ruled the Aug. 24 death of

PONTOON BEACH

Horvath died from blunt chest trauma suffered when a tractor-trailer truck struck the car he was driving on Illinois Route 162 at Eduardo Drive shortly before 4 p.m.

Officer Eugene Wilkinson of the Pontoon Beach Police Department said that Horvath was unconscious inside his vehicle when the police arrived on the scene, and that he was wearing his seatbelt.

Horvath was taken to St. Elizabeth's Medical Center in Granite City, where he was pronounced dead at 4:08 p.m. A coroner's investigation report read at the inquest indicated that when Horvath arrived at the hospital, he was in cardio-pulmonary arrest as a result of the accident.

Horvath suffered major chest injuries in the crash, according to the report.

Horvath, 85, suffered from Parkinson's disease, but had no impairments, said his son-in-law, Don Sackett.

"The man was very, very alert, in spite of his age," Sackett said.

He said the problem is the major congestion on Illinois Route 162.

"The reason for the accident is the absolute congestion on that highway at this time. There's no break in traffic," he said.

"Just today, coming here, it must have taken us 45 to 50 seconds to gain access to the highway."

"I remember a time when you could walk across that road without even turning your head."

Sackett said that eventually a "trip light" traffic signal would have to be put into place at the intersection of Eduardo Drive and Illinois Route 162, to avoid just this type of accident.

"There'll clearly be more accidents there," he said. He said that a traffic light would have saved his father-in-law's life.

"I'd still have a much-appreciated father-in-law, and his children would still have their dad," he said.

Officer Wilkinson said that no charges were filed in the accident, and none were expected. However, the driver of the truck that struck Horvath was cited for unsafe equipment.

Wilkinson also said that four witnesses to the accident all observed Horvath proceed through the intersection without yielding to oncoming traffic.

Maryville employee suffered broken leg in Sept. 20 incident

Matthew Hoffman is recovering at home after surgery to repair four breaks to his lower right leg.

He was injured Sept. 20 when a half-truckload of rock salt that dumped on him he came home, he's supposed to see his doctor 10 days after the surgery," Dorcinecz said.

Hoffman would not return repeated calls, and his attorney, Alfred Bonaldi, of Bonaldi & Clinton Ltd. in Belleville, said he had no comments to make.

Hoffman suffered fractures

"Just his (Matthew Hoffman's) legs were buried."

Mike Dorcinecz

Maryville Public Works Superintendent

said Hoffman is scheduled to see a doctor at the end of this week.

"I know he's home, I talked to him the day after he came home, he's supposed to see his doctor 10 days after the surgery," Dorcinecz said.

Hoffman would not return repeated calls, and his attorney, Alfred Bonaldi, of Bonaldi & Clinton Ltd. in Belleville, said he had no comments to make.

Hoffman suffered fractures to his lower right leg at about 8:30 a.m. Sept. 20 when about one-half of a truckload of salt was accidentally dumped on him.

"It happened so fast, he didn't really know what happened," Dorcinecz said.

Hoffman was buried up to his waist and his right leg was crushed against a metal pipe. "Just his legs were buried. It was no more than waist high," Dorcinecz said. "He was pinned, standing up against that pipe."

Dorcinecz said that about half the load of 25 tons of salt had already poured into an underground storage tank, when the remaining salt got stuck. As the truck driver raised the bed, the remaining salt broke loose all at once, forcing the tailgate of the truck to swing open.

Hoffman was taken to Anderson Hospital.

Area high school students taken to ISP headquarters

But not to worry; they're there to help solve problems

By Curtiss A. Hartley
Staff Writer

About 30 high school juniors were brought to the Madison County State Police headquarters in Collinsville Wednesday morning by local police.

They weren't in trouble; they were there because of their leadership potential.

The purpose of the gathering was to get youth involved in youth problems, according to Capt. Diana Sievers, ISP District 11 Commander.

The youths were hand-picked by their schools to participate in a new Youth Council sponsored by the Illinois State Police. Their task is to be a catalyst to help solve problems in their own communities.

"It's a brand new program for us," Sievers said. "It's part of our community policing efforts in the district."

District 11 covers five counties in Illinois: Bond, Monroe, Clinton, St. Clair, and Madison.

"What we have come to realize is that the youth really know a lot and we need to use them," Sievers said. "We adults are usually asked to come up with solutions for problems, and we need to use their knowledge and understanding of what's really going on."

At the end of last school year, Sievers began contacting area high schools about identifying students for the program.

One boy and one girl from each of 15 high schools in District 11 were chosen to participate.

The youths spent the day at the State Police headquarters learning about the goals of the program and then began to work on problem-solving and collaborative skills, Sievers said. They also designed a logo for the new group and tried out the ropes course on the state police grounds.

Liz Thielemann, a junior from Cahokia High School, said the program should have a positive benefit all around.

"Hopefully, it will show grown-ups that we're able to do something and to help out, even in a small way," she said.

Thielemann said she was selected last week when her teacher asked for volunteers. Then the principal chose who would represent the school, she said.

Jason Plummer, a student at Edwardsville High School, said the focus is to help solve regional problems, by gathering students from all five counties to work together.

"That way, it helps everyone, all at once," Plummer said.

Alton High School student Angela Raab said she was picked because she's a part of the ROTC program at the school. She hopes her input will make a difference.

"We're going to help them with the community, and with what the youth are thinking," he said.

City Council approves Nameoki annexation

Aldermen in favor were Bob Page, Foster Frederick, Lurton Pulley, Sandy Shaw, Eddie Asadorian, Leo Wofford, Nick Pettrillo and Craig Tarpoff. Mac Warfield was absent.

"My responsibility is to the city," Ward 2 Alderman Tarpoff said. "Nobody likes more government and more taxes. If given a choice, no one would vote to increase their own taxes."

Tarpoff was referring to higher taxes that many people realized and feared they would pay if they were annexed into the city. Aldermen eased their tax burden, however, by cutting their road and bridge taxes in half over a three-year period.

Despite the tax cuts, lower garbage fees and the fact that they will not have to pay a fire department fee, people along Buenger Boulevard, Ivy Lane, Westmoreland Drive and Wilshire Boulevard - areas annexed - felt betrayed by the council's decision.

"We have a free government, yet we were forced into the city," said Cecelia Herman of the 2500 block of Ivy Lane. "It's obvious they want us for our tax dollars. I'm very disappointed in their actions."

Bill Herbst of the 3200 block of Wilshire said, "This is a moral issue. They have ignored the will of the people. They have humiliated us through their land grabbing, like what is being done in Madison and Pontoon Beach. The group who opposed this will not go away. We intend to have our voices heard at election time."

More than 30 people opposing the annexation addressed the council earlier in the month, expressing concerns over trash removal and increased taxes and having to pay for city stickers and not being able to burn leaves once annexed.

About 200 homes were affected by the annexation, which the council had little difficulty approving because of the land being less than 60 acres and wholly encompassed by the city.

that decision to live as well as they can," she said.

Kaprelian added that they don't just deal with physical needs, the look at "the whole picture."

That includes dealing with family and friends.

"Some people really extend their family to mean very close friends and neighbors," she said. "This is just a time when they want these people to draw close to them."

The hospice normally has about 30 patients a month.

A nurse will see each patient one to three times per week on a regular basis, and are also available 24 hours a day.

In addition to working with patients and families, the hospice also provides grief workshops and monthly bereavement support groups. It is also seeking family members of past patients who would like to have a special prayer read for their loved ones.

For information about the prayer vigil or the Hospice program, call 798-3399.

Check your heating systems for winter

As patches of frost signal the start of cooler weather,

Illinois Power reminds natural gas customers to have their heating systems checked out.

Customers can call heating and ventilating contractors in their area for the recommended once-a-year servicing.

"One of the best ways to avoid problems, like gas leaks inside the home or the presence of dangerous carbon monoxide, is to get a trained professional to give your system a good checkup prior to cold weather," Rick Law, Gas Project manager for Illinois Power, said. "Likewise, it's a good time to make sure everyone in the family knows what to do when they suspect gas is present in the home."

Natural gas is a colorless, tasteless, non-toxic, non-poisonous, flammable gas that can be detected by its distinctive sulfur odor. Leaks may also be accompanied by a hissing noise and dead vegetation.

Timothy Britt, 21, was charged with residential burglary for an incident Sept. 12 by the Granite City Police Department. Britt allegedly entered a dwelling in the 2400 block of Hodges in Granite City with the intent to commit theft. His bond was set at $75,000.

Joseph A. Carroll, 31, was charged with unlawful possession of a controlled substance after an incident Sept. 11 by the Madison County Sheriff's Department. Carroll allegedly had less than 15 grams of a substance containing cocaine. Bond was set at $15,000.

Michael L. Byrd, 22, was charged with theft over $300 for an incident Sept. 11 by the Granite City Police Department. Byrd allegedly took food products from the Prairie Farms Dairy Super in Granite City. His bond was set at $30,000.

Heritage America scheduled this weekend

The festivities at Cahokia Mounds will bring the past alive for three days of traditional dancing and crafts. The "Heritage America" festival is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Cahokia Mounds State Historical Site. This is one of the largest Native American programs in the St. Louis metropolitan area. This free event will have many Native American representatives giving the public a glimpse of their history.

Famous for its traditional dance performances, Heritage America will have several tribes performing their intertribal dances, along with performances of the Children's Rabbit Dance, Northern Shawl, Grass and Stomp dances.

The performances will occur in the large dance circle constructed for this festival in the Cahokia Mounds Picnic Area. On Saturday, the Grand Opening ceremony and process-sion of dancers will begin at 1 p.m. at the Dance Circle. The Gourd Dancers will process into the center of the circle with their sacred drum.

Sophomores step up for Warriors

Granite City shuts out Belleville West; Edwards, Petri net goals in SWC win

By Rick Broom
Staff writer

Granite City's sophomores stepped up Monday night.

BOYS SOCCER

The Warriors benefitted from two goals by 11th-graders in the first 40 minutes and held on to beat Southwestern Conference opponent Belleville West 2-0 at home.

Granite City struck first in the 18th minute. Sophomore Rich Edwards accepted a long pass from midfield, nodded the ball past a defender and chipped it past Maroons keeper Matt Nagel from 16 yards out to give the Warriors a 1-0 lead.

"The ball came from the far side," Edwards said. "I headed it past (the defender) and took a shot at the near post, and it went in."

"Rich's goal was beautiful," Granite City coach Gene Baker said. "Great off-the-ball work and then a great shot. It was beautiful."

call-up, struck four minutes later. The sophomore took a drop-pass from Ian Kessel in the box and hit a booming 14-yarder through Nagel and into goal.

"Ian Kessel ran across and played the ball," Petri said. "Mike (Smith) let it go, and I just put it in past the keeper."

"Jon is coming along real nicely for us," Baker said. "He keeps adding something to our team. He makes open shots."

The scoring was shut down in the second half, and play got rough, with the officials starting to yank out the cards.

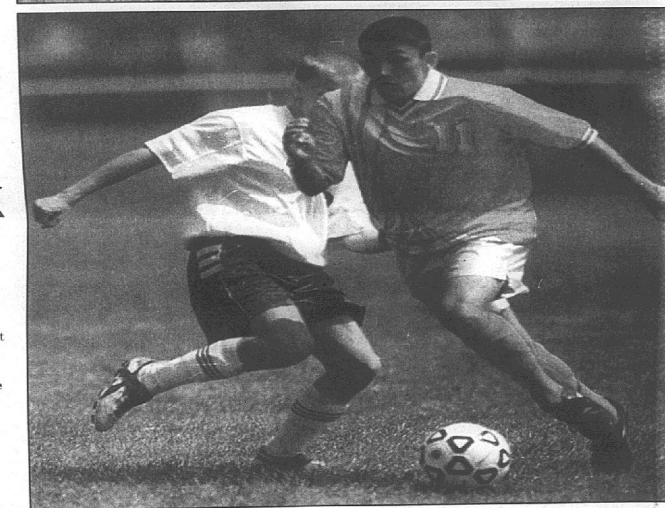

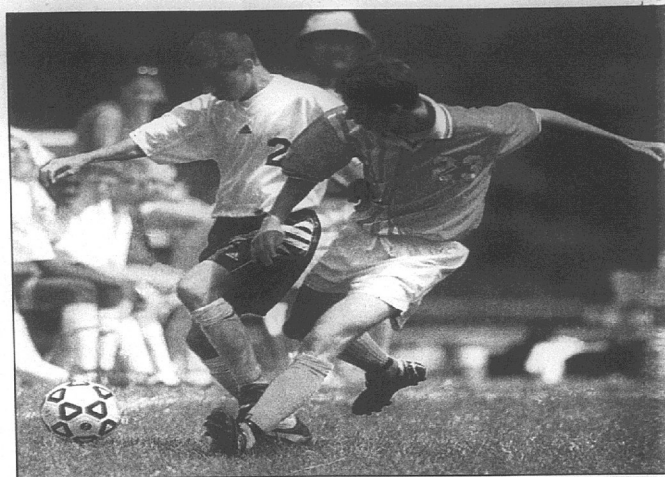

"Edwards was phenomenal," Baker said. "That was a great goal. His off-the-ball work was incredible. He was playing some defense up front and he was really making things happen. We have been talking about it in practice, where he likes to hit these balls on the run, and I told him that there would come a time when they go. That was really beautifully executed."

"I'm proud of him. He has just been a real pleasure to coach all year. He gets an 'A' for attitude, 'A' for his work ethic, he gets 'A' for cooperation. Tonight, when Jared (McMillan) had a little problem at the end he said, 'Coach, you want me to go in there for him?' His understanding is great. He is what makes being around high-school athletes fun."

Despite the standout play of the youth, the Warriors

At top, Granite City sophomore Jon Petri, (23) a recent call-up to the varsity squad, scored a goal in Monday's 2-0 win over Belleville West. Above, senior Ian Kessel (11) scored a hat trick against Althoff on Sept. 22 and notched an assist in the victory against the Maroons.

Senior Ian Kessel emerged in last week's Hazelwood (Mo.) Central Tournament, and in the process, came a long way toward fulfilling his potential as a soccer player.

The Warriors were down, having lost the opening game of the tournament 5-0 to St. Louis County (Mo.) Whitfield on Sept. 20. Granite beat host Spanish Lake (Mo.) Resary 2-1 on Sept. 21, but a big question remained: Could the embattled squad end their up and down roller-coaster ride and win two in a row?

Kessel provided the answer, taking charge with a hat trick and inspired play to lead the Warriors to a 7-1 win over Belleville Althoff on Sept. 22.

"I was just trying to make more runs and get into plays and not sit back," Kessel said. "Two of my goals were rebounds, and Coach had told me to work on my defense. He said I was tackling the ball better, and that's why I got my goals."

Kessel's good habits continued in the Warriors' return home Monday, when they beat Belleville West 2-0. Kessel assisted on the Warriors' second goal with a nice drop-pass to sophomore Jon Petri in the box.

"He was starting to make things happen late in the game (against West) and he got kicked, and I thought it was best to take him out," Granite City head coach Gene Baker said. "He kind of plays himself into things, and once he starts moving and reading the game and moving to the tempo of the game, he is extremely effective. He has big speed."

Kessel said, "I try to run around behind the defense all the time. We try to play balls behind them, because Coach wants me to use my speed to beat them outside."

The senior speed merchant has another big weapon - his shot. Baker has been working Althoff 33-12 on Saturday, but the score is misleading. Though the Warriors failed for the fifth straight time to get into the win column, the defensive front stood tall. The big boys charging the line of scrimmage could hold the key to the Warriors breaking out of their losing streak.

"I think what came out of the Althoff game was that we found a front four, plus two inside linebackers, that have stepped it up a notch and just played really, really well," Granite City head coach Nick Petrillo said. "I think statistically they didn't have but one ballplayer who was more than 3.4 or 3.5 in their yards per carry."

"The big question mark for us all year has been our defensive backfield."

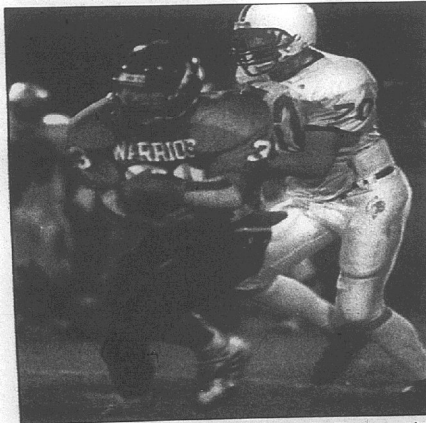

We had some breakdowns there that kind of hurt us, but the good news is that our run-attack defense has really stepped it up.

"With Belleville East coming up this week with their senior quarterback back who can throw the ball, it simply means that we are going to have to now step it up and put more pressure on and hope that he can't find his receivers."

The two winless programs will look to put each other under siege.

"They are 0-5, we are 0-5,"

Shawn O'Dell and the Warriors play Belleville East Friday in a meeting of winless Southwestern Conference teams.

Playoffs have not been kind to SWC grid teams

Heading into the second half of the Illinois high school football season, it's becoming fairly obvious the Southwestern Conference will qualify only one team into the state playoffs.

While that may disconcert to the conference fathers, it's certainly not unusual. In fact, in the 25 years of the IHSA football playoffs, the league has been represented with only one school on 11 occasions.

Last year, four teams

- Edwardsville, Collinsville, East

St. Louis and Belleville East

- qualified for the playoffs with

East St. Louis getting the league's only playoff win, at the expense of Collinsville.

East St. Louis has fostered

what little reputation the conference has had statewide in football. The Flyers, occasionally a national power, have won six state football championships and have made the playoffs 20 out of 25 times. So, you can't fault the Flyers for holding up their end of the bargain.

By contrast, no other league team has had a winning playoff record. East St. Louis has gone 56-14, an .800 winning percentage, in its 20 trips to the playoffs, but the other league teams have done very little in the postseason. Alton, in three appearances, has a 1-3 record (.250 winning percent-showed poise. "I think we played pretty well," Petri said. "We won a lot of head balls in the air and did some good things. It was pretty physical, but we hung in there. Everybody is doing pretty well."

"They are an extremely physical team, but I think we were up to the task," Baker said. "I think we played a pretty sound game. We would have liked to score more. But we got a good game out of everybody on the field. The defense was solid. Jarod, Phil (Reader), Josh (Petri), Mike Smith played quite well. Nathan (Gaudreault) had another good game."

The Warriors raised their season record to 9-3-1, and 2-1 in the Southwestern Conference.

Belleville West fell to 5-7-1 overall and 1-2 in the Southwestern Conference.

"I think we played well on the whole," West coach Jason Mathenia said. "I believe we had most of the possession ball in the game. As usual, Granite capitalizes on their opportunities with the shooting. The two shots that were taken that were goals were well-placed shots and had a lot of pace on them."

They played very good defense. Every time we got the ball to the corner and put a through pass in there they always had a guy who stepped in to intercept it."

After failing to advance in last week's Hazelwood (Mo.) Central Tournament, the Warriors had five days off leading up to Monday's game. Granite City were scheduled to play Wednesday against O'Fallon.

"In the time off, we worked on conditioning mostly and ball skills," Edwards said. "We knew we had to win this game to get our attitudes back."

"It helped us maybe a little bit to get healthy," Baker said. "That's our problem now for Wednesday, to ice up and get well. But we have to do it. We have a chance to make some waves in the rankings and seedings. I hope."

O'Fallon is undefeated and it is an opportunity for us. We don't like playing on that field, but both teams have to play on it. They have high work rate, they get healthy, hungry kids, and we have to get ourselves ready to play in that game and execute and play our game against them at the right time of the year. With it, we can effect not only the rankings in the St. Louis area on both sides of the river, but then more importantly the seedings (for the playoffs). They beat Collinsville. They have been, certainly to their credit, one of the most consistent teams in the St. Louis area. As far as their season, I would put them with St. Louis U. High and Chaminade. They haven't played quite the schedule of those schools, but they have been a very consistent team."

Playoffs have not been kind to grid teams in SWC age). Collinsville is 0-2 (.000) in two trips; Belleville East 2-1 (.167) in 10 appearances; Belleville West 4-5 (.444) in five trips; Edwardsville 5-9 (.357) in nine trips; and Granite City 1-2 (.333) in two appearances.

You would have thought the excellence of East St. Louis football would have filtered down to the rest of the league teams, but it hasn't happened. Edwardsville has been a dominant team in the Metro East in recent years, but hasn't been able to do much in the playoffs. Belleville East also has had, at times, flexed its football muscle.

In contrast, Granite City, winner of 10 state championships, has been the leader for the league in soccer. Collinsville and, more recently, Edwardsville have followed suit to make the league one of the top soccer conferences in the state.

In other sports, too, like baseball, softball, track and field, girls soccer, and volleyball, the league can brag that it is one of the best in the state. No such bragging in football.

The league's performance in football this season has been dismal. With four weeks remaining, Edwardsville (5-0) has the league's only winning record. No other school has more than two wins. The league's combined record against non-conference teams this season is a dismal 4-12 (.250). Again, Edwardsville has the league's only winning record against non-conference teams - a 2-0 mark. Four of the teams are winless against teams outside of the league. Granite City and Belleville East are winless (0-5) overall.

For a team that does not win a conference championship, it takes at least six wins to qualify for the playoffs. With the remaining schedule, only East St. Louis (2-2) has an outside chance of making it to the playoffs, along with league champion Edwardsville. The Flyers' remaining schedule is Collinsville, Belleville West and Granite City. The Flyers very well could finish 6-2. However, because they played only eight games this year, they could fall short on the IHSA point system. They'll have the disadvantage of getting points from only seven opponents, as opposed to eight with most of the other six-win teams in the state. Also, with St. Louis Summer as one of their opponents, the Flyers also will lose out on points there, because the Missouri schools start a week later than the Illinois schools. When the IHSA calculates playoff points, Summer will have played only eight games, not nine like the Illinois teams.

So far, East St. Louis has earned 13 playoff points - the number of wins by its four opponents. Since the state expanded to 192 playoff teams in 1985, it has taken a minimum of 33 points for a six-win to qualify as an at-large entry. That means East St. Louis needs to pick up a few points from its remaining four opponents to even be in the hunt. That could be hard to come by, considering two of the Flyers' opponents - Belleville East and Granite City - have yet to win a game between them. The Flyers' two other opponents - Collinsville and Belleville West - have two wins apiece.

As disheartening as the SWC picture is, the Mississippi Valley Conference is bright. The league has four teams in contention for a playoff spot, headed by co-leaders Bethalto Civic Memorial and Jerseyville, both of which are 2-0 in the league and 5-0 overall. Highland also is still a playoff hopeful with a 4-1 record. Mascoutah, 3-2, is mathematically in the hunt but the Indians' schedule is tough the rest of the way after this week's game with winless Waterloo. The Indians must then take on Civic Memorial, Highland and Chatham Glenwood - all currently 5-0.

Cahokia looks like a lock to make the playoffs from the South Seven Conference. The Comanches are 2-0 in the league and 5-0 overall. O'Fallon, 3-2, will be challenged to make the playoffs this year after suffering a devastating 48-27 loss to league rival Mount Vernon. O'Fallon's remaining games are against Marion, Carbondale, Columbia (Mo.) Hickman and Cahokia.

The Marion and Carbondale games are winnable, but Hickman is among the contenders for the Missouri Class 5A championship. O'Fallon, of course, can't stumble more than once the rest of the season. And, even if they do win six games, the Panthers still might not have enough points to qualify, given their opponents' records and the fact they play two Missouri schools this season, which could cost them in the points system due to the one-week schedule difference.

O'Fallon, a frequent visitor to the playoffs, may be denied a playoff berth in its last year in the South Seven Conference. The Panthers join the Southwestern Conference for the 2000-2001 school year. Perhaps, their presence can add to the league's reputation statewide.

Warriors seek 1st win

Petrillo said. "We are in similar situations. We have gone without who we consider our No. 1 quarterback, and they have gone without their No. 1 quarterback. They have their kid back, and we don't have ours back for Friday. But we think that Jon Franko has improved every week, and we look for an improvement this week as well."

With the return of Bart Bennett under center, the Lancers should be looking to strike through the air in support of their ground attack.

"They are not as big as they have been in the past on defense, but they are very quick," Petrillo said. "They have real good hitters, which Belleville East has always had. They have good running backs, (Don Sanford and Chris Calhoun) who can attack you and rip off some big yards."

"Now with the quarterback, they have a real good receiver in Terrance Hodson, who our scouts tell us is a real burner. Our scouts tell us that he can just pick up the yards and really fly."

Kickoff is slated for 7:30 p.m. Friday at Granite City.

Cory Winfield, who earned all-sectional honors as a senior at Granite City High School, is a freshman member at the University of Wisconsin-Parkside.

Wisconsin-Parkside was 12-6-1 last season and is off to a 3-0 start this year. The University of Wisconsin-Parkside competes in the Great Lakes Valley Conference, which is an NCAA Division II affiliate. The Rangers have a strong winning tradition, having been nationally ranked every season since Rick Klips took over the program in 1984.

The Granite City Park District is now accepting applications for basketball/volleyball scorekeepers; basketball/volleyball officials; instructors for youth basketball; and instructors for gymnastics. Positions are also available at the ice rink for cashiers, skate guards, ice skating instructors, assistant managers and security guards. Please come into the Wilson Park office and fill out an application. For more information, please call the office at 877-3059.

Madison High School golf coach Barb Cox is enthusiastic about the direction her young program has taken since its inception. "Three years ago, the Madison School Board of Education approved a pilot golf program," Cox said. "We are still learning to play and loving every minute of it. Our golf team scores have greatly improved from the previous years. Our students have worked hard to better their games."

The Trojans will compete for the second year in the IHSA Class A Regionals Oct. 5 at Governor's Run Golf Course in Carle. Please support the summer junior golf program by entering Madison's fourperson charity golf scramble to be held Oct. 24 at the Legacy Golf Course, beginning at 10 a.m. Free golf lessons will be given from 9 a.m.

For a day of golf, prizes, and dinner, send your name and $50 per person to: Trojan Classic, Madison High School, 600 Farrish, Madison, IL, 62060. For more information, call 876-7010 and ask for Cox or Athletic Director Don Smith.

Kessel kicks his game into high gear during Warriors' latest win streak with Kessel on directing the field of fire. "Sometimes he will get the keeper one-on-one, and he will kind of get lost in the indecision," Baker said. "I told him sometimes just blow him down, go right through him, and that sets up the next time. Sometimes he goes right in there and punctures the ball. I told him to do something emphatically. If you are going to shoot it past him, shoot it past him, if you are going to push-pass it, go ahead and push-pass it, if you are going to cut him, cut him. Just don't suddenly get lost and just hit it."

Kessel thinks the attention has paid off. "Sometimes I kick it, and it goes wild," Kessel said. "He has been working with me on push-passing it. I have been trying in practice, and it has been working out well. Every once in a while, he does want me to just hit it as hard as I can."

Kessel has taken a larger role in his final high school campaign.

"He is maturing as a player and as a young man," Baker said. "He is gaining some trust in the program and in other people."

"Last year, if I made a mistake, I got taken right out," Kessel said. "This year, since we worked so hard, the last two or three years, once you make a mistake and you are a senior, you get to stay in and try to make up for it."

"I think I am doing a lot better on my shooting than I was last year. My shooting was 10 times worse last year. I am not losing the ball as much, and I am not as nervous. I am more into the game now."

The Warriors will need Kessel, and his booming shot, to stay on track for the rest of the season if they are to make a run at the Southwestern Conference title.

"I think we just need to work on consistency. Not lose a game, win a game," Kessel said. "We just need to keep up with the winning."

WINSTON CUP SERIES
Coming up: NAPA AutoCare 500
Where: Martinsville (Va.)
Speedway (.526-mile track), 500 laps/263 miles
When: Sunday, Oct. 3
Defending champion: Ricky Rudd
Event qualifying record: Ted

Musgrave, Ford, 94.129 mph, Sept. 23, 1994
Race record: Jeff Gordon, Chevrolet, 82.223 mph, Sept. 22, 1995 Notable: In order, the last three races here have been won by Bobby Hamilton, Rudd and John Andretti. Richard Petty won an incredible 15 races here. ... Andretti's victory earlier this year was the only Pontiac victory this season by a driver not representing Joe Gibbs Racing.

CRAFTSMAN TRUCKS
Coming up: Kroger 225
Where: Louisville (Ky.) Motor Speedway (.438-mile track), 225 laps/98.44 miles
When: Friday, Oct. 1

Defending champion: Tony Raines
Event qualifying record: Terry Cook, Chevrolet, 103.921 mph
Race record: Ron Hornaday, Chevrolet, 68.358 mph, July 12, 1997
Notable: Raines' victory for Ford ended a three-year Chevy winning streak. ... Hornaday is the only two-time winner.

FROM LAST WEEK

WINSTON CUP SERIES
What a battle of wits. What a confrontation between old and new. What a crossroads skirmish between NASCAR Present and NASCAR Future.
Mark Martin, the 40-year-old Ford driver from Batesville, Ark., held off the typically fiery charge of 28-year-old sensation Tony Stewart in the MBNA Gold 400 at Dover. The contrast between the two stars—one a mainstay, the other emerging—could not have been greater.
Told that Stewart had complained about his tires, Martin said, "I think if Tony hangs around this thing for a while, he'll have (tire problems) again. Some days that just happens. It's happened to me probably 30 times, but I've been around for a dozen years. Some days just go that way."

In other words, time to take your medicine, kid.
BUSCH GRAND NATIONAL
Nineteen-year-old Casey Atwood staked his place among the sport's future stars with his second victory. Atwood outdueled fellow Chevy driver Randy LaJoie to capture the MBNA Gold 200, also at Dover Downs International Speedway.
CRAFTSMAN TRUCKS
Ford driver Greg Biffle held off Jack Sprague for an apparent ninth victory of the season, but a post-race inspection revealed an unapproved intake manifold, so as this page went to press, Biffle's victory was not official.

FEUD OF THE WEEK

Dave Marcis vs. Chad Little

A tap from Little's Ford sent Marcis' Chevrolet into the wall. The 58-year-old veteran cursed Little and said, "I don't think he can see." Little, who finished seventh, said, "That was unfortunate, and I hate (that) it happened to him."

NASCAR This Week's Monte Dutton gives his opinion: "Little admitted it was his fault, and the incident was surely not intentional. These things happen every week, although that doesn't make Marcis feel any better."

PROFILE Michael Waltrip

Michael Waltrip has yet to win in 421 Winston Cup starts.

By Monte Dutton
NASCAR This Week
Michael Waltrip, whose older brother, Darrell, has won 84 Winston Cup races, still seeks his first win in the country's most prominent motorsports series.
Waltrip won the Winston all-star race in 1996 at what was then known as Charlotte Motor Speedway. That victory, coming in a race largely limited to drivers with previous wins, was one of the more improbable upsets in the history of stock car racing. Waltrip qualified for the event by finishing fifth in the preliminary race, the Winston Open.
No less an authority than Dale Earnhardt is baffled by Waltrip's inability to win a point race. "I've always thought Michael Waltrip was a fine driver," said the seven-time champion. "Why he's never won is a mystery to me."
AGE 36
HOMETOWN: Born and raised in Owensboro, Ky., resides in Sheriffs Ford, N.C.
WIFE: Elizabeth "Buffy"
CHILDREN: Caitlin (9), Margaret Carol (2)
CAR: No. 7 Phillips Chevrolet Monte Carlo, owned by Jim Mattei

RECORD: 421 starts, 2 poles, 0 wins, 17 top-five finishes, 81 top-10s, nearly $9.5 million in career earnings
FIRSTS: Start (May 26, 1985, at Charlotte), pole (May 30, 1991, at Dover), win (none)
WAS JOE NEMECHKE'S NEW HAMPSHIRE VICTORY ENCOURAGING FOR YOU? "That was one of the biggest upsets ever in Winston Cup racing. Joe Nemechek has been good at times, but he has lacked the consistency to put him on top of the list of people that might break through and win a race. That's what made Joe's win surprising and special. It's not because of a lack of ability on Joe's part or on the part of his team, but just because of where they have been. They broke out and broke out big. That excites me as a driver, and it's just good for our sport."
IF JOE NEMECHKE CAN DO IT, CAN YOU? "I really feel like this Phillips team has the capability to do what Joe did. It's kind of hard sometimes to get everybody to buy into that, but I feel that way. I know it didn't matter whether or not anyone was buying into it with Joe when they threw the checkered flag in New Hampshire."

Who's Hot... Who's Not

- HOT: Dale Earnhardt has 10 top-10 finishes in the last 13 races.
- NOT: Jeremy Mayfield has finished outside the top 20 in nine of the last 11.

UNIFY, Fairview Heights, Country Buffet sponsoring run/walk Saturday

By Marge Wilson
Staff writer

Something new has been added to Discover Fairview Heights Day, Oct. 2. A run/walk to raise funds for drug and alcohol free emphasis programs for area youth is the newest addition to the event.

This athletic event will be part of the local United Neighbors Investing in the Future of Youth organization (UNIFY) with help from the City of Fairview Heights and Old Country Buffet.

"We're really excited about the race and we hope we get a good turnout. We're inventing the wheel; this is the first year. It will get better every year," Deborah Weissert, race director, said.

The run/walk will help lead off the Discover Fairview event.

It will comprise a five-kilometer competitive run and a two-kilometer non-competitive walk/run, both beginning and finishing in Longacre Park behind the Creative Playground.

The run is scheduled to begin at 8 a.m. The run/walk is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m.

The winners' awards ceremony is set for 9 a.m. at the baseball diamond behind the registration area in the park. Registration is set from 7 to 7:45 a.m. Saturday. There will be designated parking past the tennis courts.

Cost of the run is $15 for adults, $7 for youths aged 13 and under, and $35 for families.

The first 200 entrants will receive t-shirts. Trophies, awarded by Fairview Heights Mayor Gail Mitchell, who will also start the races with a blowhorn, will go to the overall male and female winners of the 5K, and the top three, male and female, finishers in each age division.

There will be 86 trophies in all. However, the received items will not be the most important aspect of the race.

"It's not just getting a T-shirt and maybe a trophy. It's spending money to help the kids of the community. That's what it's all about," she said.

The race community day will last from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and include attendance prizes.

To reach the park take Highway 64 to US South, turn right on Longacre Drive and left at the four-way stop.

Discover Fairview Heights Day Saturday emphasizes local businesses and organizations

Sunday city's exclusive day; open house at City Hall scheduled

By Marge Wilson
Staff writer

Discover Fairview Heights Day Saturday will emphasize local businesses and organizations, whereas Sunday will be the city's exclusive day.

An open house is scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday at Fairview Heights City Hall to top off the city's 30th anniversary celebration.

Mayor Gail Mitchell said all residents are invited to their town headquarters to meet their elected officials and department heads and partake of a huge four-foot by eight-foot sheet cake.

Department heads will display selected items and equipment from their areas, Mitchell said, including Tim Tolliver of Land Use and Development, Terry Wilson from Parks and Recreation and Bob Hotz of Public Works. Looking back over the 30 years of Fairview Heights history, Mitchell said the major change he sees in the city is its growth - from about 7,000 persons in the beginning to its current total of 15,740.

He said the city began growing even before its incorporation in 1969.

"The Interstate (I-64) made all this happen in 1961. The people came mostly from East St. Louis and up and down the corridor - some from St. Louis.

A lot bought homes and decided to stay because it's a wonderful city. We have a rich ethnic mix," he said.

"Each year we might annex a little bit. In the last two or three years we've grown considerably," he said.

Mitchell said most of the city's expansion is from three large residential developments: Brittany Estates; Stone Wolf, with its golf course, and Fox Creek, now in its sixth phase.

"They're growing great guns. It's been a boom to our city," Mitchell said.

Mitchell is entering his fifth year as mayor, the first year of his second term. He was first elected in 1995.

Lewis and Clarke return

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

Imagine standing on the outskirts of Camp Dubois - the Lewis and Clark Expedition's winter camp before setting out to the Pacific Coast - during the winter of 1803-1804.

As you look out across the Mississippi, you see... France.

That's right. At the time the expedition - formally known as the Corps of Discovery - was preparing for their journey. St. Louis, Missouri and everything west of the Mississippi was still French territory.

That, and the fact that the members of the expedition ate about nine pounds of meat per day was among facts learned by Madison County elementary students during a program last Thursday at the Lewis and Clark Historic Site in Hartford.

The program, put on by the local chapter of the Lewis and Clark Society of America, celebrated the expedition's return to the area on Sept. 23, 1806. Among the approximately 200 students participating were children from Madison, Collinsville and Edwardsville.

In 1804, Capt. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark started up the Missouri River, eventually working their way to the Pacific Ocean and paving the way for the westward expansion of the United States.

The program included demonstrations by re-enactors on dancing, marching, hatchet throwing and other daily activities.

Re-enactor Edward Brown of East St. Louis, a student at SIUE, portrayed York, the slave of Clark, and taught students dances that the expedition members would do to entertain themselves.

Brown said York was an important member of the expedition.

"He was the only black man to go along on the trip," he said. "The dangers of the trip called for every man to carry his own load. York probably had to shoot and hunt and do whatever he could to help the expedition along."

Brown said he got involved through a professor at SIUE.

"I think it's a great opportunity for people to realize how difficult it was back then," he said.

The event was one of several planned at the site to commemorate specific dates in the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

"We wanted to commemorate Lewis and Clark, and we're doing that on three different dates in history," said Brian Widaman, spokesman for the local Society chapter.

Madison school kids learn a traditional dance instructed by "York" played by Edward Brown.

Thursday, Sept. 30, 1999
Your success rate in accomplishing your endeavors in the year ahead looks quite encouraging, but nothing will be handed to you on a silver platter. Be enterprising and progressive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Aggressiveness is certain to draw fire today, so if you need to make some suggestions on how something should be done, do so with plenty of cool logic. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Inequality invites failure in all endeavors, but especially where money is involved. If negotiating in this realm today, make certain all parties are treated fairly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Independence is an admirable quality, but there's a chance you could carry it to extremes and come off in a self-serving manner today. Display cooperation instead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
If co-workers don't seem to be working up to par today, do not simply assume they are lazy. Chances are the methods or procedures that have been set in place need to be revamped.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Get your social obligations out of the way early today, so you can carry out plans to be with persons you truly enjoy, rather than being only with those to whom you feel beholden.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Unless you first think about, and then assign what tasks can be happily done in the family today, an all-out desertion could occur. Be considerate of everyone's desires.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
You might have to deal with someone today who has a bit of a chip on his or her shoulder. Fortunately, instead of using your brawn, you'll use

Logging on to the whole world

By Christopher England
Staff writer

The Internet continues a path into the 21st century that seems to puzzle computer analysts, let alone every day users, like moms, dads, brothers, sisters, grandparents, coworkers and well, just about anyone.

Every day, millions of people around the world "surf the net" for everything from aardvarks to the Zulu Nation. Users can search for stock information, weather forecasts, new cars, sports heroes, religious organizations, real estate, government projects, encyclopedia information, books, poetry, paintings, sculptures, photography, music, motion pictures and the list goes on.

According to Internet experts, the average family with a personal computer in their home uses the Internet for 260 hours per year or five hours per week. The Internet User's guide projects that every household within the next 20 years will have some sort of computer system.

The worldwide link to our global neighbors grows faster, larger and even wiser at magnificent bursts in time, Mathew Gray of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said.

"Six months is a generation on the Internet, the number of users along with the number of websites is growing so rapidly that systems are not going to be able to support these factors," Gray said.

Today, thousands of households and businesses will log on to the Internet in the Metro-East. One of those businesses offering Internet access for families in the area is Cyber Safari, which is located at 815 Lincoln Highway in Fairview Heights.

Cyber Safari is an Internet cafe that offers access to close to 20 computers with Internet access, cafe-style food, a Compact Disc Burner, which copies CD information onto another CD, and graphic design availability through computer software and hardware.

This kind of cafe is growing in availability and necessity for the "computer conscious individual," co-owner Vicki Mueller said. She believes the Internet is the most important aspect of the future of communications.

"The Internet is always expanding and the amount of information available is so important to the future of interpersonal communications and commerce exchange," Mueller said.

Computer users are seen on a daily basis at the cafe checking or writing e-mail or playing games or surfing the Internet. Mueller estimates the amount of time users are on the system is close to 250 hours a month or 40 to 50 hours a week in the cafe.

The number of users and the availability and attraction of the cafe relies on a T1 Server, which transfers information at 300 to 500 times faster than a home PC modem. Co-owner Jim Van Horn says that the availability of such a high-speed system is what brings customers back every time.

"Today's society is so highly paced that people need somewhere to go for a reasonable fee and get a speedy result for their surfing," said Van Horn.

Cyber Safari charges $6.50/hour for Internet access, $5.50/hour with a student I.D., and offers three options for a monthly fee for different timed packages. Owners offer an unlimited access package for $159.95/month, as well.

Along with individual CPU's, which are coupled with 21-inch monitors, the cafe offers a family computer with a 32-inch monitor and wireless mouse and keyboard.

The Internet has evolved into a force in today's private and commercial sectors of life. Since its' creation in 1969 by the United States Defense Department, the world has become a smaller place.

According to an Internet Encyclopedia, found at www.freesoft.org, the birth of the network, known as the Internet, is traced back to a Defense Department project. The project focused on wartime digital communications.

The telephone system reportedly was the only theater-scale communications system in use at the time. The Defense Department targeted a flaw in the system that allowed channels to change in the face of an attack, which allowed for interference of the information.

The Internet was designed to reroute digital traffic around failed nodes by building a theoretical web of datagram network, called a "catenet." The Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency was commissioned to design the program.

DARPA created a gradual evolution of protocols, which coincided with problems facing the United States throughout the 1970s. The program evolved while testing itself through the Vietnam War, Watergate Scandal, Oil Crisis and the Iranian Hostage Crisis.

The Internet began as a vehicle of the military and eventually filtered into the mainstream populous during these years, said Charles Arlen Johnson, coordinator of the Internet History Organization in Dallas, Texas.

According to Johnson, the Internet truly found its niche during the "PC Revolution" of the late 1980s. The National Science Foundation started the Supercomputer Centers program in 1986, which funded the linking of five supercomputer centers to the households of America.

"Those five links are the groundwork of what we use today, even though there have been bugs throughout history, we have learned well to adapt the systems to their greatest potential," Johnson said.

The potential has given birth to the latest technologies, which households enjoy everyday. The recent invention of the WebTV phenomenon is available through communication corporations everywhere and will someday be found anywhere in America, as the television has become.

Charter Communications offers Worldgate, a WebTV system, through their digital cable services now. This addition to digital services is the wave of the future, LeAnne Murphy, a cable subscriber, said.

"My children love the Worldgate system, we can surf the net from our television and everyone has something to look up," Murphy said.

The Internet is here to stay and with the availability and attractiveness of home systems and websites and their growing importance, families should not miss out on the fun.

'Jakob the Liar', a touching film of a difficult subject

Robin Williams's WWII film is a whimsical tale that never takes itself too lightly

Bob Balaban, Armin Mueller-Stahl and Robin Williams in a scene from the Columbia Pictures release, "Jakob the Liar."

In the darkest days of World War II, in a Polish ghetto where life is grueling, terrifying and sadly temporary, a ray of hope emerges. Unfortunately, it is an utter fiction — a lie.

Does it matter? That is the question tackled by "Jakob the Liar," a touching, whimsical film that explores the meaning of believing in something when the world is crumbling.

Jakob Heym (Robin Williams), a ghetto cafe owner, has very little in his life. His restaurant has been closed and, above it, his house is barren. Nazis killed his wife. "They shot her — under a tree," he spits. "Don't ask me what kind of a tree. I didn't ask."

His days are filled with hard labor and apprehension, and he moves ethereally among a cast of fellow ghetto residents. Among them:

Kowalski (Bob Balaban), a forlorn barber with no customers; Mischa (Liev Schreiber), a thickheaded but goodhearted boxer once managed by Jakob; Mr. Frankfurter (Alan Arkin), an embittered cynic; and Dr. Kirschbaum (Armin Mueller-Stahl), who defines a good night in the ghetto as "three suicides and one birth."

One night, out on the street at curfew, Jakob is sent to a Nazi lieutenant's office to take his punishment. Though the officer ultimately lets him go, Jakob hears snatches of a radio broadcast in the office that imply an Allied advance is under way. Good news indeed.

On the way home, Jakob encounters 10-year-old Lina (Hannah Taylor Gordon), who has been left behind in the ghetto by parents trying to save her. He hesitantly takes her in, hiding her in an attic alcove.

The next morning, Jakob makes the mistake of confiding in Mischa about hearing

Test your tunes IQ

New music trivia

By Kevin Carberry
Staff writer

I've heard that a sign of getting older is when you've gone several years without buying any new music albums.

I'm not talking about getting a new copy of a Rolling Stones album that originally came out in 1969 or even something by the Red Hot Chili Peppers from the early 1990s. I mean tunes from the new performers you might find on MTV when the channel chooses to actually show videos or artists that are being played by college radio stations.

It is easy for music to pass you by. Everybody finds a group or a style they like and pretty much concentrates on that niche. Many of us formed our tastes in music while we were in high school and college and have never chosen to embrace other types of songs.

I buy CDs of new groups every now and then, so I suppose I am more flexible in this regard than the general run of the population. I am still a fan of the Eagles and Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers, but I also enjoy performers like Garbage, Nine Inch Nails and Smash Mouth.

I have also expanded my scope of interest in music. In high school, I listened to practically nothing but standard rock. Since then, I have come to enjoy alternative rock, reggae, blues and even some classical music. I've become aware of why so many people think the world of Frank Sinatra.

Not every musical genre has grabbed me, however. Country has never been my cup of tea, no matter how popular it became with the general public. Rap is another music style that has not interested me. I have never understood the attention bubblegum rock groups like the

Backstreet Boys and the Spice Girls have received. Oh, well, to each his own. This week's trivia quiz is on the topic of music.

1. What blues great sang the song "When Love Comes to Town" with the rock group U2 on its "Rattle and Hum" album?
2. Who had a hit with the song "Snowbird" in 1970?
3. What was the first Billboard Top 10 hit by Sting after he left the Police?
4. What band had a hit with the song "It's All Been Done" in the last year?
5. What group had a No. 1 hit with "One Bad Apple" in 1971?
6. Who were the five rock stars who got together to form the Traveling Wilburys?
7. What has been the only No. 1 hit of Chuck Berry's career?
8. Fred Schneider and Kate Pierson are members of what band?
9. What was the first Top 10 single for Janet Jackson?
10. What orchestra leader had a No. 1 hit with "Love Theme from Romeo and Juliet" in 1969?

ANSWERS:

1. B.B. King.
2. Anne Murray. The "SCTV" television show did a hilarious parody of her singing this song in a Turkish prison.
3. "If You Love Somebody Set Them Free." I wish he had stayed with the Police.
4. The Barenaked Ladies.
5. The Osmonds. This group made me sick.
6. Roy Orbison, George Harrison, Bob Dylan, Tom Petty and Jeff Lynne.
7. "My Ding-A-Ling," from 1971.
8. The B-52s.
9. "What Have You Done for Me Lately," which hit No. 4 in February of 1986.
10. Henry Mancini.

I will host the following upcoming trivia events:

Horoscopes

your wit to calm the temperament.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Pay special attention to details today relating to any business or money transaction. What you fail to recognize now could come back to haunt you later.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Speak up on your own behalf if you're dealing with someone today who shows little regard for the interests of you or others. Let this person know you won't go uncounted.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Be extra careful today not to go about your work in an absent-minded fashion, because you could miss something quite large that has potential money making possibilities.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You're the person who can usurp an individual who has taken it upon him or herself to dictate the actions of a group involvement today. Let him or her know it's the majority who rules.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Quietly go about working towards your aims today, especially when in the mist of others who are openly clamoring for the prize. The more subtle you are, the greater your chances of winning.

Jakob the liar

the radio broadcast. Mischa assumes Jakob has somehow procured a radio — a dangerous, forbidden commodity. And Mischa can't keep the secret.

Within days, word has spread: Jakob has a radio. And people want news. What unfolds is a delicate dance; Jakob is hiding something, yes — but it's a child, not a radio. He begins to concoct news bulletins that imply an Allied victory is near. Morale climbs; suicides stop.

As matters grow more complicated, people demand to hear the radio themselves. "It's not even your radio now," Mischa admonishes. "It belongs to everyone now."

Ultimately, as Jakob grows into the role that misunderstanding created for him, he must decide whether to tell the truth or continue inventing the dispatches that will keep hope alive.

"Jakob the Liar" is a rarity among films, a tale simultaneously epic in its theme and striking in its attention to detail. Filmed stunningly on location in Poland and Hungary by Hungarian director Peter Kassovitz and cinematographer Elemér Ragályi, it is a complicated goulash of love, cruelty and dark whimsy. Unlike many holocaust dramas, it rarely feels heavy — but never treats its subject lightly, either.

The only thing that mars the film is a confusing, credibility-defying final two minutes. But this is a mere bump; the ending really matters little.

"Jakob the Liar" is a somber yet farcical opera about a lie that goes awry — one of the oldest tools in the comedy toolbox. But in the hands of Kassovitz and his talented bunch of players, it becomes something bigger, asking a question that lingers long after the credits roll: If belief does more good than truth, is lying so bad after all?

"Jakob the Liar," a Columbia Pictures release based on concentration-camp survivor Jurek Becker's book. — Associated Press
